When Your Feet and Back Ache Try These Exercises

It was surprising to note how popular foot exercises were with the many people who watched the famous exercise demonstration given at the Denmark Pavilion of the New York World's Fair last summer. There, Neils Bukh, Denmark's pride and glory, demonstrated to the masses how to grow strong and beautiful through corrective exercising.

He stressed foot work to relieve the aches which are so common to us if we stand for many hours, or even sit for many hours. Physical activity keeps muscles elastic and elastic muscles cause no aches.

The foot, Mr. Bukh said, is one of the most abused portions of the human body. Improper shoes, lack of exercise, tight stockings and poor posture all help to give us trouble. Then too, "the foot is falling into desuetude except as an appendage for stepping on the gas." We should walk much more in good fitting shoes than we do. Foot aches and weak ankles are corrected with simple exercises involving flexion of the ankle—the stretching of the tendon of the Achilles is a contributing factor in correction of weak arches. Here is a famous series of Bukh movements, designed to give you greater foot comfort.

Do These Every Day
Up on your toes, down on your heels, with an easy swing!

For these exercises, stand with your feet from six to eight inches apart. Raise the heels from the floor, concentrating the weight of the body on the balls of the feet.

1—Roll gently backward and forward from the balls of the heels, to limber the foot.

2—Stand on the outer edges of your foot, toes curled slightly inward. Walk forward six steps, and backward six steps, in this position. Then combine Exercises 1 and 2 and do them to music rhythm. Five minutes should be spent this way.

3—Rise on your toes and then drop to your heels. Repeat this to a one-two count at least ten times. Then walk around the room several times on tip toes with perfect rhythm in your pace.

4—Now place one foot diagonally forward about two foot lengths. Distribute your weight evenly on both feet. Roll gently forward and backward by rising on toes and dropping to heels without bending your knees. Do this about twenty times and then change position and put back foot forward and repeat.

Rhythm is Important
To get full benefit from these corrective exercises you must do them in rhythm. Do them to a record or music on the radio. Feel yourself swaying as if they were dance steps. Let your body swing as you roll or walk.

And try to be sensible about your shoes. The next time you buy a pair for daytime wear select those which have a broader heel of comfortable walking height. They need not be flat—in fact they may be two inches high if they are shaped correctly. The toe of the shoe should be wide enough to permit your toes to grip as you walk, and long enough to allow for the stretching and flexing of your foot. Good shoes aid posture, and good posture is essential to beauty through health. So you see!

Minor Operation Relieves Burro of Hardware

Animals often get queer things wrong with them but it remained for County Live Stock Inspector to find the most unusual of ailments in a burro recently brought into the county.

Noticing a discharge from the animal's frontal bone, investigation indicated it contained some hard foreign substance such as a spent bullet. A minor operation brought the object to light.

It was a Ford car door handle.

Hail The Rose Queen

Her Majesty The Queen of the 1940 Tournament of Roses parade held New Year's day in Pasadena, Calif. Margaret Huntley, 18 year old student from the Pasadena Junior College, was selected queen from a group of 3000 applicants. Queen Margaret will ride at the head of the 51st annual Tournament and will be seated in the royal box at the Rose Bowl football game later in the year.

Pretty girls and Charlie McCarthy, the world famous radio character, will vie with beautiful flowers for public attention in Pasadena New Year's day when the 51st annual Tournament of Roses parade winds its way over a five-mile route.

In keeping with the modern theme of the Parade, "Twentieth Century in Flowers," Charlie McCarthy, the beloved dummy with a soul, a voter and a personality that has captivated millions, has been appointed Grand Marshal of the Parade.

Seated on the knee of his mentor, Edgar Bergen, Charlie will ride at the head of the Parade and will converse with children along the line of march. Charlie's voice will be amplified to the crowds by means of a broadcast system concealed beneath the flowers on the Grand Marshal's float.

For 36 hours after the conclusion of the parade, the floats will remain on public display at the Willard School grounds at the end of the parade route. This is a change from former years when the parade disbanded in Tournament Park.
